ON SPIRITUAL GROWTH

3-YEAR SCOPE & SEQUENCE

Grow Kids takes kids through every major Bible story in three years. Every year, we spend an equal amount of time in the Old and New Testaments — six months each! The Old Testament is taught chronologically over three years, while the New Testament is taught chronologically every year (but with new stories each time). At the end of three years, we start all over again! In your teaching strategy, we know you want a balance between a predictable, consistent structure and fresh new ideas too! In Grow Kids, here's how we find that balance...

WHAT CHANGES?

With kids, you never want your teaching to get boring. So every month, you'll get a fun new series title and theme that complement that month's Bible stories! After three years, when we revisit the same stories again, the series themes will be new all over again so you can help kids rediscover the same stories in brand new ways.

WHAT STAYS THE SAME?

Keeping your teaching fresh is important, but predictability is important too. That's why the core structure of our scope and sequence never changes. You can see the whole thing below! We split the Bible into 36 chronological topics and cycle through them all every three years. You can count on these topics, in this order, year after year.
